CHERRY'S JOURNEY

by Katie Hansberry and Marilyn Ash

In late February of 2024, visitors from Alaska were enjoying the view from Ediz Hook when they spotted a cat lying by the side of the road out by the spit. Fearing that this emaciated cat was dying, they rushed her to the only veterinary clinic they could find and authorized the vet to test her for FIV/FELV, vaccinate her, and give her an antibiotic injection.

The cat was not microchipped, but had been spayed. Her rescuers kept her in their RV for the next two weeks until they needed to begin driving back to Alaska. With good food and lots of TLC, they were able to get a little weight back on her. And the cat did her part—she ate well and purred constantly, and even seemed to welcome the bath she was given in the sink of their RV. Because the people were unable to take the cat on their long journey home, they asked the vet for advice, and were told that one of Peninsula Friends of Animals' specialties is senior kitties, "especially insanely friendly ones." And that's how this very nice cat, now named Cherry, came to PFOA.

She arrived in mid-April, a thin brown torbie, missing hair, underweight and still needing hydration—at the time she was rescued she weighed only six pounds. She had severe gingivitis and periodontal disease, requiring all her teeth to be extracted. Following her surgery she was no longer eating well, she was

This special issue of Pet Tidings celebrates our first 25 years of rescue, rehome and spay/neuter service to the community. It is our privilege to present just a few of the rescues rehomed since our beginning. We hope you enjoy the current photos provided by our adopters, and the originals from our files. "Then and Now" begins on page 5.

From the Editor's Desk

To celebrate our first 25 years of rescue, rehome and spay/neuter service to the community, we have taken a different approach to the design of this newsletter. A couple of months ago, our Home Front author, Wills, put out a request to our adopters: if they would send us photos of their kitties, we would publish "then and now" photos in honor of approximately 4,000 rescues who have found new forever homes through Peninsula Friends of Animals..

The response was enthusiastic. People really liked the idea. And immediately the photos started arriving. We received images of kitties adopted from 2007 through 2025. We received so many wonderful photographs, some with heart-rending stories, that we ran out of room to publish them! In the end, nine pages of our 16 page newsletter were dedicated to photos honoring our rescues who have found forever homes over the years.

In order to be able to properly display all the photos, we needed to omit, for this issue only, several of our regular features. We needed to defer publication of our Meet A Volunteer and Vet-Smartz until the next issue. In addition, the second story and special article were also omitted to make room to represent what is just a fraction of the felines adopted through Safe Haven over the last quarter century.

We encourage you to view our adopted kitties from so many years. Their "then" and "now" photos are displayed, starting on page 5. We hope you enjoy them!

- Marilyn Ash, Editor

Mews from the Board

In honor of our 25th anniversary, we invite you to give from your heart. For 25 years it has been our privilege to provide rescue, rehome and spay/neuter services to our community. In these challenging times, a gift of $25.00, just $1 for each of our years, or multiples thereof, to celebrate this special occasion would be most appreciated.

Partner with us to continue our legacy of hope, compassion and renewal for many more generations of needy rescues. Help us to have our vital mission continue and thrive far into the future.

Heartfelt thanks to each of you.

- Board of Directors, Peninsula Friends of Animals

pulling at her fur, and was diagnosed with a heart murmur, feline calicivirus and stomatitis. On the bright side, she began healing nicely from the dental procedure. And by mid-May her weight was up to 7.9 pounds.

PFOA determined that Cherry's condition had improved to the point where she could be considered adoptable with special needs. On May 7, she was added to the adoption websites. A little more than a month later, her photo caught the eyes of a mom and her adult daughter, Katie, who both love senior animals. They had decided it was time to add a feline member to their family, and were searching through local websites for just the right cat. After reading about Cherry and seeing her photos, they both agreed that they needed to meet her.

When a cat is adopted from PFOA, Staff provides prospective adopters with all the information necessary to make an informed decision. In Cherry's case, the family not only learned about her prior history, but also about all of her medications and special needs. And when Katie and her mom, Connie, met Cherry, they sat down on the couch in her playroom and spoke to her softly. Cherry accepted them, came right over on her own, and jumped up on the couch to be petted.

The trip home was uneventful. When they arrived, Cherry thoroughly checked out the main house, noted that her food, water and litter box were convenient, and took over the sunroom. This has become her favorite place, where she enjoys the sun coming in the windows and skylights and does zoomies around the room. An affectionate cat, Cherry has an unusually loud purr and shows love to Katie by pushing on the back of her head and wrapping her paws around her.

On a nice day, she likes sitting on the deck on Katie's lap and being groomed—her normally loud purr becomes even louder, and occasionally she falls sound asleep.

Cherry does require meds every 12 hours, and the process has become quite tricky, although still manageable. Initially, Katie and Connie tried wrapping Cherry in a towel, and of course she knew what was coming and started smacking her lips. Eventually they moved on to using pill pockets, which seemed to be an improvement. And she always gets a treat after her meds, although sometimes she decides to pout and refuses to take the treat. Cherry also tolerates her vet visits, although that's not her favorite thing!

Cherry has a very happy life with Katie and Connie. She has her own domain, companionship when she wants it, a cat tree that she enjoys, and toys to play with. Her favorite "toy" is the vacuum cleaner—she loves to bat at it while Katie is vacuuming! She has her very own family who love her unconditionally. And she gives Katie and Connie so much love back. Truly a purrfect ending to Cherry's journey. 🐾

An Entertaining Duo

Our featured felines are a pair of real sweet, laid-back brothers who would love to find their furrever home together. At 'bout two years young, Porter and Wagoner are the ideal kits for pretty much any home. They get along well with other cats, and are definitely willing to share their new home with any and all existing feline residents. Dogs, we're not so sure of. According to Porter, they really aren't sure what a dog is, 'cause they've never met one.

These guys are lovers, not fighters. Porter is initially a little shy 'round visitors, but Wagoner just jumps right in there, checkin' new people out. Porter has a "thing" for hair—he'll sit on the back of the couch behind visitors and play with their hair!

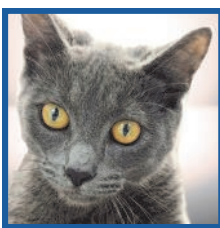

Our human visitors really like spendin' time with the two of them, 'cause they're a very entertaining pair. They both love to play fetch with their toys, really dig catnip, and also like feather wands and other types of pole toys. Oh, and they like chasing bugs and moths when they're in their enclosed catio. Having safe access to the outdoors is definitely at the top of both their lists!

The lucky family who adopts these two will be getting bonded brothers who alternate between super playful and real relaxed. Sometimes they're couch potatoes; other times they're real go-getters. So y'all need to give us a call for an appointment to meet Porter and Wagoner. I promise you'll have a grreat time, and maybe end up with two new family members! 🐾

PFOA Adoptions: From the Adopters

♦ We'd like to nominate Tina for the 2022 kitty pic. She was glad to be in a home, but she was an angry cat because she'd lost her home and family of 6 years. We worked hard to make her happy. This picture shows her the day we knew she'd decided this was really her home and that we are really her people. We call it Tina Says Relax. Deborah Frazier and David Leach

♦ Here are pics of our fab kitties that we adopted from PFOA in Sept. 2016. Tinker is the all tan coat; Spike is the orange & white tuxedo cat; & Little Bit is the gray girl. They'd like to be included in your newsletter! Linda Sewright

♦ We adopted Rory when she was just under 5 months old. She lived to be 19 years old but we had to say goodbye to her in July. We loved and adored her. She was the best little girl and we will miss her forever. Carol and Darwin Gearey

♦ I adopted a senior named Lexi from PFOA a few years back when she was 16 years old. She had experienced the loss of three previous owners, each time being returned to the shelter. Lexi had been living there for 2.5 years with little hope of adoption due to her age. Bringing her home as part of our family was truly one of the best decisions of my life. Despite only having the pleasure of her company for 10 months, cancer ultimately took her away from us, but our love and her memory remains strong still to this day. Alex Luschen

♦ Hi Wills! It's your West End Bud, Maybelle! Glad you are lookin' so great, you handsome devil, you. Gonna send some pics. I can't decide which is best so will just send 'em for you to pick the pics. Get it? Maybelle, of The Schindler Five

♦ This is Pickles enjoying the fire, Spring 2025 He was adopted September 2022. We've enjoyed every minute with this wonderful boy. Marcia Sanders

♦ Greetings from Vancouver WA to all the kitties at the shelter and friends! The 25th Anniversary issue sounds like an opportunity to show off our beautiful Russian Blue, Tasha (Misty at the shelter). Ed and I adopted her at the end of December 2023, and she is the love of Ed's life. We have enjoyed Tasha every day and she quickly learned to manage our young rescue welsh corgi, Anna. We wish you all the best at PFOA. Sharlene Busch

♦ Lynxie is Annie and Cindy is Emme; two little girls who took years to become the best of friends. Many thanks to PFOA for rescuing them from their bad living conditions. This is a wonderful idea of showing your adoptees history. Sharon Palmer

♦ Happy 25th Anniversary PFOA!! We're so lucky to have you in our community!! We adopted Emma ("Emerald") in November 2022 when she was 9 months old. Here are some photos of our little furry black ball of absolute joy. With love and appreciation, Christina, Christian, & Emma Miller

♦ We adopted our kitties in 2022, right after Thanksgiving of that year. Their names were Homer and Ruby but we changed Homer's name to Jasper because his eyes are a beautiful green and the name fits him better. We kept Ruby's name because she is truly a gem. Thank you for all you do! Cheers! Susan Levine

♦ Junior and Gravy, of course!! Such fine boys!!! Junior passed January 2022. Gravy October 2023. I still miss them terribly! Thanks for the chance to bring them back to SafeHaven. Just to clarify, that's Gravy on the left and Junior on the right both studying squirrels out the window. They joined us in September of 2014 after charming us at SafeHaven for almost a year. "Uncle Keith" was not quick to adopt (still isn't!). Catherine White

♦ We have two sibling pairs of your adorable adoptees. Hoover and Kirby were adopted November of 2014. I was told that one of them ... not sure which ... was the 2000th cat being adopted from PFOA. The photo of the beautiful little girls, Bella & Notte was taken in January of 2023, not long after they came home with us. As you well know, taking photos of black cats is dicey ... two black cats is even worse! Janet and Bill Atkinson

♦ Attached is a current photo of Bowie and Roxy for the 25th Anniversary Special. They were called Blue and Precious and adopted in May 2018. David and Kimberly Gonzales

♦ Thank you for all your hard work for the kitties! Happy 25th Anniversary to PFOA and Pet Tidings. I hold each new issue to my heart, and then Kattcher sits on it! I keep them all, and reread them. Love to all of you, Lauretta and Kattcher Ehling

PFOA: The First 25 Years

When we designed this newsletter, we had intended to include an article describing some of the highlights of our first 25 years. What we didn't realize was the number of enthusiastic adopters who wanted to share their stories and photos with us and with you, our readers and supporters. There was not enough room in our 16-page newsletter to include everything!

But, we do have a website, and we decided this would be the most effective means of communicating our story to all of you. You'll find it at a new page on our website: Our First 25 Years. For those of you who receive your Pet Tidings copies electronically, just click on the 25 year icon at the lower right corner of this page. If you receive a printed Pet Tidings, go to our website at safehavenpfoa.org and click on the 25 year icon toward the top of the home page.

And to all of you, thank you for our first successful 25 years! 🐾
